

TIME LORDS & MASTERS OF CREATION

10 May 2015 – 21 Iyyar 5775

Akurians, on my command:

SET YOUR MIND, CLEAN YOUR SOUL AND REPEAT AFTER ME:

"Most High Lord God of All Creation, ALIHA ASUR HIGH: This is my True and Righteous Testimony to you as Ordered by You and Commissioned upon me in accordance with Your Holy Anointing and established Chain of Command:

"Consciousness of Consciousness, this is the Great Vision:

"Lucifer and all your minions, Anunnaki, Kak Jews, Knights of Columbus, Masonic and Temple Israelites, bureaucrats, officers, reporters, associates, supporters, minions, fellows and all families thereof, knowing and ignorant: you are hereby stripped of all powers and all cognizance that you accomplish nothing real or imagined, save and except hastening of your own Death Upon Your Own Head in the Heavens above, in the Earth, and in all the Depths beneath.

"Lucifer and all your servants, Anunnaki, Kak Jews, Knights of Columbus, Masonic and Temple Israelites, bureaucrats, officers, reporters, associates, supporters, minions, fellows and all families thereof: you are now bound in infinite restriction and infinite deprivation that all life energies abandon you that you Die the Death here and now, immediately and without delay.

"Lucifer and all your damnables, Anunnaki, Kak Jews, Knights of Columbus, Masonic and Temple Israelites, bureaucrats, officers, reporters, associates, supporters, minions, fellows and all families thereof: you are bound with all forces and energies of all Violence in All Creation and into the deepest pits of Hell you are cast: there you shall remain until one thousand generations have passed in total freedom from you and all your damnations.

"Hear all you Seven Swords of The Most High Lord God of All Creation: All Akurians send you to action:

"Sword of Righteousness,

"Sword of Justice,

"Sword of Truth,

"Sword of Honor,

"Sword of Strength,

"Sword of Vengeance,

"Sword of Great Wrath:

"Hear me Great Swords: You are now endowed with all Righteous Powers and Holy Authorities, all intelligence, stealth, courage, absolute success and absolute victory:

"Spare not: Yaw-Way, mark and seal him with Death that he cease and continue not;

"Spare not any Demon or their minions, any Anunnaki, Kak Jew, Knight of Columbus, Mason, Temple Israelite, bureaucrat, officer, reporter, associate, supporter, minion, fellows and all families thereof, knowing and ignorant.

"Consciousness of Consciousness, this is the Great Vision."

Akurians:

This lesson leaves a lot to be desired as there just is not room to fully explain all the relative points that must be considered, most of which are technical within the science of physics.

Be aware that all matter as we know it is made of FOUR things: protons, positively charged particles; electrons, negatively charged particles, and neutrons that have no charge of their own; and SPACE, Akasha, room to exist. In fact that is NOT entirely true: there are such things as photons, particles of light energy; and neutrinos, particles of MASS/MATTER that are moving faster than the speed of light – infinity – and thus BACKWARD in time.

NOTHING exists, acts or reacts without the SCALAR component; and we really have no idea what that is; only that it exists. There isn't any mathematical formulae with respect to SCALAR that can be depended on like weights and measures of MASS/MATTER, volts, amperes, watts, resistance, capacitance, inductance; frequencies of electricity, light and sound. More about that later.

Back in 2000 AD – 5760 Hebrew – Command Marshal General D. Chylon Budagher and myself investigated, printed and copyrighted a scientific treatise documenting Spiritual Application. What we found and published clearly confirmed that MetaPhysics cum Spiritual Processes and Procedures are an EXACTING science, no different than any other precision requirement in any other application.

The one point we did NOT include was the Factor of our THREE Physical Creations. Realms of PHYSICAL Existence beyond any and all scientific examination even with today's modern computers, test equipment and advanced sciences. That each contains its own versions of Spiritual Existences – of which we know even less – does not reduce or denigrate what little we do know.

Permit a point of clarification: that will be publically revealed here for the first time.

We've heard for generations on end about MATTER and ANTI-MATTER without really having a clear and concise explanation. We know that MATTER, also called MASS, is the physical creation we exist IN and are a part OF. Nothing new there. But what is ANTI-MATTER in reality? It is a form of MASS/MATTER that evaporates into an apparent NOTHING when it comes in contact with any other MASS/MATTER not like itself. To give some idea, let's contend that OUR physical existence – MASS/MATTER – is of NEGATIVE polarity just like we find across the board in electricity; and ANTI-MASS/MATTER is POSITIVE. We know that when a battery runs down, it still has as much electrical capability as it did at full charge; just that its'

BALANCE has been reduced to ZERO. The POSITIVE is the same level as the NEGATIVE leaving a detectable ZERO. We would still exist, but nobody knows nor understands in what form or Realm!

The same would be true even if whole galaxies of MASS/MATTER and ANTI-MASS/MATTER were to come into contact – closing the circuit so to speak – electrically they would BALANCE! How much hell and violence that would create is directly proportionate to the AMOUNT of materials contained in the scene of contact. The primary detectable energy from such an occurrence would be HEAT whether manifest as light, gravity, magnetism or lightning (which is electricity). Once the fire, brimstone and lightning subsided the whole of the remnant would be COLD and TOTALLY DARK because everything would have disappeared into NOTHING into ZERO!

Does that mean neither no longer exists? Not by a long shot! They have simply changed into a form of which our so-called modern science has neither mathematics to explain nor equipment to detect. And HERE is the hard part to imagine, even though we're thoroughly versed in direct and personal experience: the ZERO is just as real as the Plus-1/Minus-1 of the ANTI-MASS/MATTER and MASS/MATTER! Think about it: the ZERO still exists!

We have nothing of a scientific nature to decipher that ZERO except the FACT we know that SCALAR is a known entity. Unlike electricity with its voltage, amperage, watts of heat, frequency, resistance and inductance of coils: SCALAR has nothing we can predict including gravity or its effect of gravity. Nothing. Sum total of the fact: we only know it's there. There have been some events and equipment-assemblies purporting to be SCALAR and a few have produced rather spectacular shows of manifestation: but NOTHING of a continuously usable element. Most of what is published about SCALAR is speculation except for those reports of Nikola Tesla's own accomplishments. Building and operating a Tesla Coil does not a SCALAR EXPERT make!

It is often speculated that Nicola Tesla, the foremost electrical physics genius recorded history has ever known, simply did not leave much written data about SCALAR, except in his references about other electrical applications. No facts other than his reputed speculations and no formulae whatsoever. He is still accused of keeping some secrets to himself – which he may well have done after being robbed blind by Thomas Edison. But the TRUTH of the matter is: there were NOT then and are NOT now any consistently provable SCALAR formulae. Therefore, he could NOT leave any such data because it didn't exist then and doesn't exist now.

TRANSVERSE WAVE INTERFERENCE

LONGITUDINAL WAVE INTERFERENCE (SCALAR WAVES)

The most-accurate information about SCALAR is our aforesaid "INSIDE ZERO" where all Creation resides within the SCALAR REALM. That you fully understand: there are THREE levels – or expressions of existence – MASS/MATTER, ANTI-MASS/MATTER and the SCALAR ZERO! --- MASS/MATTER being the number NEGATIVE polarity ONE (1); ANTI-MASS/MATTER being the POSITIVE polarity number ONE (1) and the NEUTRAL polarity of ZERO in between them. Three complete Realms of Existence: MASS/MATTER, ANTI-MASS/MATTER and the SCALAR ZERO. That we can only experience the MASS/MATTER in constant; and ANTI-MASS/MATTER in a very limited scientific laboratory happenence; does NOT preclude the existence of the already known and detected SCALAR ZERO in between those two opposite-polarity singular ONES (1).

Let's present a scientific FACT:

A point to understand: electrical transformers and common by-pass coils all have TURN RATIOS to step-up, step-down or maintain. RE: a primary winding, where the signal goes in has a given number of turns-of-conductor; the secondaries, of which there may be several, all have a different number of turns with the exception of a maintain which would have the same. A simple formulae to determine where an OUTPUT of a secondary is up or down is to divide the turns-ratio of that secondary into the turns-ratio of the primary: the sum will be the up or down from the input signal as a general reference rule.

Separating SCALAR from either of the other two, MASS/MATTER or ANTI-MASS/MATTER, appears to be about the same process. We really don't know about the process in ANTI-MASS/MATTER as everything might run backwards there for all intents and purposes. However, such is not the case with our current existence in MASS/MATTER. Though still an EXACTING science, and equipment to accurately measure SCALAR does not exist in commonly affordable gear. We can and do get some results in hard manifestation of our separation methods. We simply wind TWO identical coils around a third; and test each of the identical coils normally as given above. If the turns-ratio works as expected, we proceed.

To separate the SCALAR we take both ends of the source and attach them to the OPPOSITE ends of the TWO identical coils: that the signal goes head to head – linking the other ends with a simple nonpolarized capacitor – or two polarized capacitors in reverse of each other. We're not looking for an up/down of our primary signal, but rather a detectable DIFFERENCE between them that is NOT due to different turns-ratio of the respective coils.

Here's where it seems to get a bit complicated. In electronics, when there are any TWO frequencies, called FUNDAMENTALS, in a circuit, they create TWO additional frequencies, called SECONDARIES, at the numerical difference between them and the sum total of both regardless of phasing – the rise and fall. RE: fundamental frequencies of 9 and 10 would produce secondaries of 1 and 19. Identical fundamentals. If phased, they should produce nothing, they should cancel each other. But they don't: there is a minute residue, and that residue is the SCALAR manifestation.

A bit of clarification: consider an exact ounce of any material, and for vision's sake consider that ounce to be exactly one inch on all six edges. Now if that MASS/MATTER were to be processed into energy and then returned to MASS/MATTER, it wouldn't weigh a full ounce. There is a SCALAR component that (1) did not change into energy; and the energy also has its own SCALAR component that (2) did not change back into matter! The lost has been measured at somewhere between a decimal followed by eight or nine places. A very small, and almost immeasurable, but there nevertheless.

The great mystery is, WHERE does that ZERO-Creation exist in physical form? The answer is: in the SCALAR Realm; and it's as large as our MASS/MATTER Realm that is in turn equaled by the ANTI-MASS/MATTER Realm. Were this not true, the POLARITY difference would have crashed everything into itself at the outset.

Thus we have THREE full Physical Creations to contend with – all of which have their own manifestations of Planes of Heaven in the Highest Levels, Depths of Hell beneath in the Lowest Levels and their own existence/manifestation in between. For all intents and purposes, there is Negative-1 – that we exist in at the time; Positive-1 – ANTI-MASS/MATTER and 0 (ZERO) the SCALAR in between.

These are the Realms and Physical Creations we exist and operate in. As you grow in True Spiritual Knowledge and become more powerful, you'll hit a few barriers in your practices. Without exception, if you are practicing in the required EXACTING SCIENCE manner, those barriers are SCALAR manifestations that must be dealt with to proceed.

NEVER attempt to Invoke in more than any one Creation at a time. As Anusazi Earthlings we just do NOT have the necessary information to safely and accurately operate in either Positive-1 ANTI-MASS/MATTER or 0-SCALAR.

ARE THERE ANY QUESTIONS?

TIME-WARP AND INSIDE ZERO METAPHYSICS

For those who have not yet been informed, back in 2000 Command Marshal General D. Chylon Budagher and me blundered into a Physics Mathematical Formula we named "Inside Zero" (IZ) the initial report of which is attached below. Not being Levites or Jews, and not having the other "in-Clique" requirements, we have been totally ignored by the Academic, Scientific and Business communities. After ten years of time-and-money-permitting on-again-off-again research, the rejection of all the above has proven to be the greatest circumstance of all circumstances. First, IZ is difficult to understand as the greatest number is always less than 1 (One). Second, most of the calculations and answers are with respect to SCALAR aspects as opposed to general physics of creation. Third, the SCALAR Realms are avoided like the plague by all the 'scientific' communities because they don't know a damned thing about it, cannot explain its various and many seeming inconsistencies, as a result of which replication is seldom, if ever, possible. And, Fourth, SCALAR is the process and procedure of METAPHYSICS! Spiritualism, if you must. The Establishment can't have its most-brilliant programmed minds delving into Spiritual Truth, especially when it would only be a matter of time before somebody would reveal – and prove – that (1) God does exist, and (2) all 'religions' are as bogus as a socialist promise.

As most Akurians know, I have been involved with electronics, specifically Radio Electronics, since the days of hand-blown, hand-assembled tubes (valves, for you Britishers) and was the first to build a powered psionic device that worked. That stolen information is the basis of the very-high-powered HAARP units – psionics on a massive scale – the One World Government (OWG) under its Zionist Controllers still can't get to work properly. Do not be alarmed that in this report many parts and pieces of the Great Puzzle will be laid bare and open for the OWG Zionists and puppets to review. They can't make any of it work: either in the Planes of Heaven above all the Earths, in any of the Earths, nor in any of the Depths beneath all the Earths; to which they have consigned themselves in Eternal Damnation. This report is intended for True and Righteous Proven Knower Akurians, who are the only living entities this side of The Great Veil with the incarnate abilities to avail themselves of any and all powers, benefits and rewards of IZ and SCALAR applications.

Do not despair that those in Academia, 'religion' and Media will ridicule virtually every word in this report and all our research findings given herein. The fact NONE of the above can make either sense or headway with this information is based on two critical and irrevocable factors as mentioned above, (1) the SCALAR Realms are relevant only to metaphysical (spiritual) processes prior to physical (Earth) manifestations; and (2) IZ is the mathematical process Formulae by which the Higher, Earthly and Lower (Depths) can be predicated and predicted. In short, those in said Academia, 'religion' and Media simply cannot make either sense or delivery of any part thereof! And, when things don't/won't work for the Kaks (infinitely unqualified) it must be denigrated at all costs. Copernicus and Galileo being two prime examples, and they didn't invent much of anything, they only DISCOVERED some truth those in power couldn't permit to be known lest their own high-and-mighties be shown to the phonies, liars and damned fools that history has ultimately shown them to be. What they can't ridicule, lest they be tested, they make extreme effort to ignore; as they certainly have our main publication, "The ANOINTED, The ELECT, and The DAMNED!" along with all our many news releases. And so history will repeat itself, again.

Over the past two decades I have built numerous psionic devices, some powered, some not, with various degrees of success and failure. Fortunately, the failures were always learning experiences opening new doors of application, ultimately becoming successes, but not necessarily of that originally intended. So it was with a series of Mind Devices, each generation improving the next, that Chylon and I tested only on ourselves. Affectionately called "bonnets" because they are worn on the head, a few were disguised sufficiently to be worn in public, although we never did so. It was the progression of bonnets that gave rise to the IZ concept which in turn produced the improvements incorporated in the subsequent generation of bonnets.

Having perfected the Kronos, Thor and Zeus Series of psionic units, that in application initially seemed to be a waste of time, effort, money, materials and expertise as they only served to assist until we no longer needed them. They actually provided levels of applied technology in keeping with my long-standing foundation of needing nothing but one's self. For the past six months I have endeavored to construct an advanced Mind Device for which I had to hand-make, in accordance with IZ formulae, many of the components, coils and transformers, capacitors, resistors and even a few semiconductors in amplifier, detector, oscillator and rectifier modules. Child's play, I assure you.

Once activated, the prototype produced some very fascinating phenomenon. Powered by a nine volt (9v) battery, within a twenty-four (24) hour period of bench testing I found that – for whatever cause or reason – I could no longer get ANY transformer in my collection to work! Let me explain a bit. Coils of insulated wire, when powered, become electromagnets. A transformer is nothing but coils of insulated wire of various gauges and numbers of coils. For the sake of simplicity, a first coil called the PRIMARY winding and a second coil called the SECONDARY winding. In most current-carrying applications the windings must weigh about the same regardless of the gauge of wire and number of turns of coil. It the RATIO of turns in each of the windings that produces the transformation effect of input vs output of VOLTAGE. There is no change in the POWER applied (Amperes times Volts equals Watts/Power). RE: hypothetical transformer with 10 turns in the Primary winding and 100 turns in the Secondary will, in theory, step-up output voltage by a factor of TEN or step-down by a factor of TEN depending on which side the input voltage is applied. Direct Current (DC) has no effect on a transformer except for the magnetic field any current produces in a coil. Twenty (20v) volts applied to the 10-turn Primary should produce two hundred (200v) volts in the Secondary; and conversely one (1v) if the 20v is applied in the other winding. This is nothing new in electronics.

Now the fun begins. While attempting to test a new hand-wound transformer, all I could get was an .008v (eight thousandths of a volt) regardless of the direction of test! That is about what would be expected if there were an OPEN (break in the wire) anywhere in the coils. The input into my 25X75-turn coil was 1.9vAC as checked on all FIVE (5) of my volt meters. Regardless of how I attempted to input that 1.9vAC the output remained .008vAC. I checked all the connecting test leads, getting 0 ohms – true continuity – in every instance. I checked the coils of my transformer, again true continuity, meaning there were no opens or breaks in the wiring. Resistance measured consistently. I checked and all my instruments – nothing amiss or inaccurate. I made a check-list to ensure consistent and accurate wiring and connection sequence. No change, 1.9vAC input still produced an .008vAC output.

Then I tested other factory-made transformers, six (6) in all, various sizes from very small to a five-pounder high-voltage. Prior to any application, I checked each of the windings for continuity and resistance. Everything checked normally. Then the test: again 1.9vAC in - .008vAC out on each and every unit regardless of input or output winding!

WHAT THE HELL IS GOING ON?

When normal electromagnetism doesn't work – like it has since it was created – "what the hell is going on?" becomes a very valid question! Excluding the SCALAR effects, there can only be THREE factors: (1) Magnetism; (2) Gravity; or (3) Time. A rising or falling voltage/current flow in a coil produces a proportionate rising or falling magnetic field, called "flux." A rising or falling magnetic field (flux) in a coil produces in a proportionate rising or falling voltage/current flow. That's how a transformer works! The magnetic field/flux in the first winding cuts the coils in the second winding and produces a proportionate up or down (as the application may be) voltage/current flow in that second winding.

Therefore, if the magnetism is present, and it is – the input voltage being checked in series and the magnetism being checked with a compass in proximity – but does not produce the normal output, then either Gravity, Time, or both, has to be the interfering component, and THAT puts us squarely into the SCALAR Realms!

Gravity WARP? Time WARP? SCALAR WARP? Which? what combination? or all three? First, I moved my 1.9vAC generator and the factory-made transformers to another room some thirty feet (30') away, adding the standing walls shielding in the process, in an attempt to find some degree of proximity effect. The 1.9vAC produced an improvement, in my hand-made 25X75 transformer of 1.615vAC, far from the 5.7vAC expected. Evidently a SCALAR Field has some effect of decrease with distance just like magnetism. But the problem persisted. Regardless of the fact the components and equipment were now 30 feet from the lab unit, and again, regardless of which transformer, and/or winding thereof, I used, the output was a constant 1.615vAC. The next day the same tests produced different results, all in the same general range but varying in instability, .007vAC to .009vAC in close proximity with the original lab test unit and 1.587vAC to 1.7vAC at 30 feet distance, which is totally inconsistent. Since neither equipment nor formulae exist to detect, determine or predict anything in the SCALAR Realms, other than what little can be revealed with standard electronics, which and how much of what in whatever combination is a mystery with more questions than answers.

A few things I do know, and remember you heard it from me first (as if I really give a damn). In all of Creation, whether in the Heavens above all the Earths, in all the Realms of all the Earths, or in all the Depths beneath all the Earths, when anything – regardless of how unimaginably huge or infinitesimally small – changes from mass into energy, somewhere in Creation an equal amount of energy changes into mass, and vice versa, named here as Creational Balance, CB for short. The mass/matter and force/energy remain constant within a very few yoctometers, the smallest physical measurement, per attosecond, the time it takes for light to travel the length of three hydrogen atoms. That's a pretty tight schedule and damned fast on the Akurian Delivery Scale. And THAT SCALAR Factor is the "why" of the discovery that any action by any electron effects every other electron in all of Creation; the discovery of which has permitted the speed of computer processors to be increased dramatically.

With such a speed-of-balance between mass and energy, black holes and gravity/time warps seem puny by comparison. For instance, "what" determines "which" mass/energy will be changed into the other and "where" it takes place is a monumental Natural Law nobody but the True and Righteous dare to even contemplate, let alone comprehend that such is in and of The Mind of The Most High who revealed these things only to His Akurians. Close proximity doesn't seem to be of any significance, such as heat from a fire impacting everything near by; ice tending to cool everything in its ambience, et cetera. IZ is the only mathematical element we have to analyze the effects of these and other such SCALAR Realms, and we know and understand far too little about either to comprehend what we're seeing when we see it. That said, the phenomenon presented by my lab test unit clearly shows the SCALAR influence of CB and that such effects, while unstable and unpredictable in scientific terms, are a part of the Real Creation in which we exist and those effects can be manipulated to some degree by those who are Righteously Qualified.

True and Righteous Akurians, whether Proven Knowers in their own right or acting on my Direct Authority, can all direct forces and energies toward any desired circumstance, including physical (Earth) changes, social and political opinions, intellectual and Spiritual endeavors, et cetera. We do it all the time in our Circle and Hell Blasts, our daily recognitions and Spiritual Accommodations along side of our Blessings and Curses.

That we can light any combustible and deliberately direct the forces/energies produced from the burning mass/matter to whatever result we prefer is among the least of our Righteous Powers, Holy Authorities and Spiritual Abilities. With some experience of SCALAR Effect with respect to ElectroMagnetic, Gravity and/or Time WARP capability, we have a greater understanding of "how" we accomplish "what" we are doing, and yet do not need psionic units except to assist in learning and development of that greater Knowledge and Understanding. Though the research and discovery are fascinating, we as Akurians must still affect and deliver using our own abilities, and without any external trappings of any kind.

The current lab unit does something else seemingly impossible, but used for generations in the real world of electronics: it takes energy from a battery that is blocked on both poles by capacitors, effectively stopping any current flow. The effect of current flow comes from the varying frequency inside those blocking capacitors, making the draw of energy from the battery fighting itself via charging and discharging as the capacitive reactance ebbs and flows. In theory the battery should last indefinitely, but since it's working as an energy source to charge and then discharge the connected plates of the blocking capacitors, it still runs down, just at a slower rate than it would if wired in a direct circuit. We have no idea what effect, if any, is happening to the capacitors by these Gravity and/or Time WARPS, and at the moment we also do not have any equipment of any consequence to find out.

For those hearty souls who want to investigate further, immediately below is our last edit of INSIDE ZERO for your perusal. Just remember, you are NOT going to get much, if any, verification of physics as we know it in the scientific community, as IZ is primarily a SCALAR Application dealing with elements, forces, energies and phenomenon in the Spiritual Realms usually known as Heaven and Hell. There are portions contradictory to known physics, but to our current knowledge and understanding there are no procedural or mathematical errors anywhere in the report. You will find what you will find and learn what you will learn, but like all True Laws of God, nothing will be changed to suit your preferences, especially with respect to politics, socialism and 'religion.' Glean what you can glean, and apply it wisely, for misapplication will come with unknown levels of horror regardless of your intentions.

"INSIDE ZERO"

General Bobby Farrell and General D. Chylon Budagher, B.U.S.
THE SCIENCES "INSIDE ZERO".

Ages of mathematical application have give the false impression that between the numbers of +1 and -1 is an absolute 0 (Zero). Yet uncounted records, both ancient and modern, document abnormalities in all the sciences, both theoretical and applied, that cannot be explained using such mathematical applications. Any and all attempts to explain such abnormalities in terms of esoteric have invariably been scoffed and vilified by an equally ignorant Scientific cum Academic Community who could not provide any other explanation either. The socialist application of Money/Academia being reputedly superior has thus permitted the suppression of any such knowledge, discoveries or recognition, of those without such wealth, academics and/or birthright social position. That factor is and will remain the sole and exclusive basis for all defamations of both this "Inside Zero" information and discoverers, General Bobby Farrell and Dianne C. Budagher, B.U.S. Be that as it will be:

Why "Inside Zero"? Because there is no other place that permits room for either the equations, their results, or the many fully documented chemical, electrical, magnetic and other instabilities, not because of the number/factor of "0" itself. It is also the only place where the fact that no two objects, people, apples, eggs, snow flakes, etcetera, are exactly the same, makes any reasonable sense in spite of the probabilities to the contrary. Further, it dissolves forever the concept of absolute zero! The zero, whether " or not, is not an absolute nor is it a sure and certain "nothing" even in its singular application. And, it is the only place where massive quantities, such as the googol, become understandable and more manageable in the processes of comprehension. "Inside Zero" even the Chaos Formula becomes common place.

To separate those mathematical symbols "Inside Zero" from those of the normal Positive (+) and Minus (-) numbers we have chosen to use two ^^ symbols at both the beginning and end of all relevant figures, located in the upper case of the number SIX (6) of most modern (computer) keyboards. It looks suspiciously like the letter "m" but has no other significance, symbolically or otherwise.

Due to the nonexistence of calculators containing anything more than + and - functions, we must resort to such limitations with respect to the explanations (revelations?) and examples given in these notes. Even so, each and every presentation, except research data, given herein is theory only, in the exact same manner as is each and every theoretical cause behind each and every application of electricity in this high-tech age. That something is theory does not mean it cannot be repeated, only that some portions thereof may not be proven to the point of exactness within acceptable limitations of Applied Science. SCALAR Physics, for example.

The late genius Nikola Tesla not only determined the existence of SCALAR Physics, but made measurements and at least one existing graph of the phenomena. That both his discoveries and records have been, and continue to be, denigrated by the same Scientific and Academic Communities that in a grand display of self-righteous hypocrisy heralds his other accomplishments. Specifically, but not limited to, the present day global Alternating Current (AC) electronic grid system. That Guglielmo Marconi is still accredited with the invention of radio by those same Scientific and Academic Communities is ample documentation of such abuses, as the Court Decision in 1943 clearly gave credit to Nikola Tesla as predating Marconi by several years as evidenced by his filed patents. Thus we come to ^^ and in all probability the SCALAR Realm and all its mysteries.

It is best to begin the study of the elements "Inside Zero" with an explanation of some, but certainly not all, SCALAR Theories as the physical environment of "Inside Zero" seems to be based in large part within the SCALAR Realms. To what extent, we do not know. Our limited explorations have indicated such is the case due to the fact that as of yet we have found no evidence to the effect that all numerical constants, such as pi, are not the same when applied within the SCALAR Realm. Pi is pi, as 1 is 1 and 2 is 2, but a 0 (Zero) does not exist, there seeming to be a threshold of a 1 regardless of the decimal points (the last number will be a 1). However, both physical applications and the current and accepted formulae for determining them, such as with respect to chemical and electrical physics, are not so stable! In fact, the rare but documented instabilities of chemical and electrical physics may very well be explained, and possibly predicted, with the application of "Inside Zero" mathematics which must be applied with respect to the physical environment of the SCALAR Realm.

What we suspect about SCALAR, waves at least, is that they do not travel at infinity (the speed of light in free space, corrected to the range of 186,252.352 to 186,410.98484 miles per-second) but are infinite! A disturbance of (or a newly created, if there is such a thing) a SCALAR Wave is instantly everywhere in Creation! There is no travel time, as from one side of Creation to the other, from a "here" to a "there". SCALAR Physics, within its own Realm, ignores Time as we know it in its entirety. If there is a SCALAR Time Factor or equivalent, we have found no evidence of it. But that certainly does not preclude its existence. If its there, eventually someone will find it, and the sooner, the better. Therefore we caution. These presents may, and in all probability are limited and thus proportionately inaccurate due to the fact we do not know of, and therefore cannot include, any relevant SCALAR Time Factors.

Nikola Tesla's research shows that SCALAR lines-of-force (waves?) travel in straight lines in one direction, but may be broken or off-set in its dimensional quantities at right angles. A visual that explains this better is an ordinary brick wall! The straight lines are horizontal but the vertical lines are off-set in the binding of the bricks. However, a SCALAR wall would not be limited to the perpetually repeated size in such vertical dimension, and can be any combination of shapes and sizes within that vertical dimension. And, the straight lines of SCALAR can be at any angle, attitude, yaw, volume or energy. The shape of said straight lines can be equally diverse, circle, triangular, square, etcetera, but are suspected of being the same shape over their entire length, not changing from one shape to another in parts or pieces. It is suspected that all SCALAR lines may change shape, but the straight lines change in their entirety while lines at angle may contain any given shape for any given length at any given location. Almost as without any rhyme or reason. Although it is certain there is both rhyme and reason, we just don't know the

"why", "how", "wherefor", etcetera. Perhaps research for SCALAR Time will reveal more about this obviously very complex subject.

Given the mass of SCALAR Waves that certainly exist, it is only a matter of probability until there is a collision between at least two, and perhaps more, lines. Different shapes may pass through one another as do light and radio waves. But, since phase is a matter of Time, and SCALAR Time is not known to exist, when two or more lines of the same shape intersect there must be some detectable phenomenon! Perhaps a degeneration of SCALAR Infinite Speed to sub-light and thus into our physical realm! Is such an event, or could such an event be, the cause behind the aforementioned "rare but documented instabilities of chemical and electrical physics"? It would certainly explain the "rare" part, as well as the non-repeatable factor. But such intercepts need not all constitute a reduction to sub-light, and where that would lead is anybody's conjecture.

But let us envision two Planes of SCALAR Waves in a given square room with its energy (whatever that proves to be!) moving left to right, one grid flat on the floor and the other grid at a downward angle from the left wall and ceiling intersection to the middle of the floor. Now let us presume both Planes are the same for all intents hereof. At any point of intersection between the two Planes the SCALAR Energy is moving in the same general direction (left to right), and the resulting phenomenon proves to be current (Amperes, which are negative in polarity when in motion). Then were we to move the upper Plane to the right of the ceiling to where it intersects with the right wall, but maintaining the same floor Plane intersection, the resulting phenomenon would in all probability prove to be an electrical "hole" or a Positive charge somewhere in Creation. While one cannot exist without the other in this Physical Realm, the same is not necessarily true in the SCALAR Realm. Thus the suspicion of some sort of SCALAR Time Factor, since such SCALAR collisions, if they really work this simply, have produced a rather well balanced Physical Realm, complete with anti-matter! Our SCALAR Realm Theory thus allows for all Physical Creation to be balanced, with vast areas of physical matter separated from equally vast areas of anti-matter. The mathematics do not dispute such possibilities.

As anyone with experience with Tesla's famed coils will verify, the turns-ratio formula with respect to transformers often does not apply! For the uninitiated, a given number of turns of wire in a primary (input) winding compared to a given number of turns of wire in a secondary (output) winding will determine the change in output voltage which can be either higher or lower than the input voltage. And, the number of secondary (output) windings is limited only by necessity, allowing the existence of transformers producing several voltage levels as a given system may require. The shape of such windings vary the input/output to some degree, but the fully documented total nonpredictability of the Tesla applications just does not sit well with the Scientific Community. Our research suggests that somewhere "Inside Zero" mathematics is the answer.

For example: we took an iron-core manufactured transformer (retrieved from a piece of declassified and junked space gear), 1500 Volt (RMS) primary and 32 Volt secondary with a center tap, supplied with a fixed AC signal of 500 cps and .336 Volts. When applied to the 1500 primary the resulting output at the secondary was a very unstable .000343 to .000167 Volts at the outside connections, and a center tap to right connection an equally unstable .001031 to .000239 Volts, with a center tap to left connection a still equally unstable .002414 to .005683 Volts. Yet in the measurement of ohms the readings were stable, 47 ohms on the 1500 Volt primary, 1.6 ohms on the secondary and a constant .8 ohms between the center tap and either side.

Mathematically, we should have produced a stable .008278 Volts between the outside connections of the secondary and .004139 Volts between the center tap and either side. While the general reduction produced far less than the expected, the center tap/left connection often exceeded the expected output - .00568 Volts! "The Book" says "NO!" In fact, every known book on the subject says "NO!" But that didn't change our SCALAR Test results! Not only were the numbers skewed, they were so unstable as to be almost unreadable between changes, but thanks to a "Hold Data" feature in our meter and a very fast trigger finger, we were able to verify the figures.

The reverse test was equally astounding!

Applying the same .336 Volt AC signal to the outside connections of the 32 Volt Primary (in reverse order) we should have read 13.639 Volts on the 1500 Volt Secondary. We didn't, instead .003 to 6.904 Volts were the upper and lower limits. Center tap/right produced .002 to 4.073 Volts, and center tap/left produced .001 to 3.854 Volts!

But notice the two near-constant elements: we always produced a lower than-expected voltage except for the center tap/left attempt; and the near-perpetual instability! Our digital-read meter would vary its display times nearly as often as the variance of its readings. But only when used in the SCALAR testings! Constant meter checks with both house current, batteries, capacitors, resistors, and other instruments, etcetera, showed the expected and known values every time and in an absolute stable manner. However, none of the instrumentation displayed any different actions than our digital unit when applied to the SCALAR testings! They all gave the same results in the same unstable manner.

This same transformer, when tested in the presently accepted manner, delivered the expected results well within mathematical predictions and formulae. But not when tested in the SCALAR Realms!

Look at this breakdown: Forward Test

Note the produced values, variance and "Inside Zero" results make a complete shambles of the expected numbers and formulae. A single turn in a Primary winding should produce an equal voltage in a single turn in a Secondary winding, and the formula can be calculated both forward and backward to determine both required input voltage and expected output voltage. It's done everyday, has been for years on end, and with extreme accuracy. But it doesn't mean a thing when applied to the SCALAR Realm from which we derived "Inside Zero" mathematics in an attempt to give some predictability or stability to those sure and certain SCALAR Effects.

PROBLEMS & REVELATIONS

How much will "Inside Zero" applications prove, or disprove, metaphysical, spiritual, psionic, holistic and other such esoteric phenomenon? We have no idea. The fact that "Inside Zero" applications will eventually do one or the other to all the above, and many other areas of mystery as well, is sure and certain. "Inside Zero" applications suggest both the Existence and Infinite Presence of a Supreme Being, at least to these researcher's satisfaction, and the ultimate wisdom of applied Holy Law. We find no contradictions between "Inside Zero" applications and the Existence and Infinite Presence of a Supreme Being, but rather a greater understanding of those ancient reports of "angels" and other "divinities" (those from the sky). With "Inside Zero" applications we can clearly see the "Presence of the Lord" in the form of a "Pillar of Fire by night and a Pillar of Smoke by day" that accompanied Moses (Moshe) and the Israelites in their flight from Egypt, as an intelligently created and controlled device capable of providing great light at night and covering itself with fog/smoke by day.

And that leaves us no other alternative than to accept the existence of higher intelligence extra-terrestrial life, in addition to the fact those higher intelligence extra-terrestrials are far more intellectually and technologically advanced than we are. That is not to say that "God" is a spaceperson, only that some Supreme Being did, in fact, send representatives in the exact same manner President Roosevelt sent General Eisenhower, many Military Forces and much logistics to Europe during World War II. Was "God" present in the device? Perhaps. But He need not have been, any more than President Roosevelt need have been present in any Theatre of War to have his orders carried out! The respective Commanding Generals had the authority of the President and the logistics to carry out that authority, as would whoever was present in said device have had the authority of "God" and the logistics to carry out that authority. Unfortunately "Inside Zero" applications do not provide us with such infinite details, at least in our present understanding. But both Prophecy and the Akashic Records may very well be subject to "Inside Zero" applications.

There is evidence to support the suspicion that the "powers that be" do not want anyone they don't control to either have or to explore the SCALAR Realms. Such evidence is overwhelming in its circumstance.

First, by the deletion from publication, libraries and book stores of older volumes such as dictionaries and training manuals that once openly taught both theoretical processes and formulae now known to be access (doorways?) into the SCALAR Realms.

Second, by the elimination of such information and formulae from updated versions under the guise of this is modern and that's old hat. Example the elimination of the LC (Inductance-Capacitance) formula for finding the resonant frequency (F_r) of any two inductors and capacitors: the most accurate formula is π times the square root of L times C divided into 1 (then divide F_r into the speed of light to find the resonant wavelength for an antenna). However, since about the same resonance effect can be achieved (and in some cases more economically) with an RC (resistance-capacitance) circuit, the RC Time-Constant [Time (T) = R times C , then divide T into 1 to find F_r] is the "modern" and the LC is the "old hat". Sounds good to all socialists, doesn't it? But the fact, depending on the application, the LC circuit either produces, passes or blocks analog frequencies (even FM where the electrical effect appears to be a digital signal), and the RC circuit is a twisted and time distorted curve (which in digital applications doesn't matter) that can only generate (in an oscillator circuit) or pass its resonant frequency (in a discriminator circuit), the "old hat" claim suddenly doesn't hold water! SCALAR, like virtually all modern electronics, can be either analog (linear) or digital (square wave, "on" or "off"), but the ELF (Extra Low Frequency) ranges and fields are all analog without exception. Much of what is known about the SCALAR Realms comes from the ELF ranges and fields! That both an RC and RL circuit can be used as voltage dividers is beside the point. Ask yourself "why?" the elimination of the SCALAR Wave Formula of the square root of RL divided into 1 and the sum of RL divided into 1 are conspicuous by their absence.

Third, by the elimination of the formula for determining the value of a coil, especially when making your own. There are a myriad of 'formulae' given in the mathematical realm and all duly noted as to be 'estimates' at best such as: $L = R + 1.11$ times S divided into the square of 2.8 times R times $3 N$ squared (R - the radius of the coil in centimeters; N = the number of turns of wire; S = the length of the coil in centimeters). But the exact formula: $L = 9A + 10B$ divided into N time A squared. (N = the number of turns of wire; A = the length of the coil in inches - (A is often given as S in many modern formulae); B = the diameter of the coil in inches); is also conspicuous by its absence. The former being a close socialist pollution, but no cigar.

Fourth, by the virtual elimination of parts, specifically but not limited to, variable capacitors. Once the main element in all radios and radio tuning circuits and available in many values, they are all but nonexistent at all chain electronic parts stores. When available at all, they are of economic necessity priced into oblivion due to the socialist opposition toward their total elimination.

The simple reason for all such socialist opposition is due to the fact ELF fields can be easily tuned with a home made coil and a variable capacitor, and the socialist don't want anyone to have either access or knowledge of those realms! Why? Because the information located there strips all the socialistic and religious poppycock to absolute infinity, and exposes all their grand sounding but nonworking schemes toward total global domination via legislated enslavement palmed off on the programmed ignorant!

It was expounded decades ago (late 40s, early 50s) that with proper (but nonexistent equipment) the electrical disturbances created by past activity could possibly be located and captured to the point that even Lincoln's Gettysburg Address might be made available in its original form and by President Lincoln himself. It was presumed that such electrical disturbances would remain somewhere in space as the earth (and sun) moved on. Science fiction? Not according to the proponents whose Academics were on-par with anyone and everyone else's in the Scientific Community at the time. And what happened to said proponents? Hell itself happened! When the socialists realized that the reclamation of any such historical event would also permit the reclamation of any other event, such as President Roosevelt receiving his instructions with respect to his conduct concerning his sell-out, and the resulting United State's sacrifice at, Pearl Harbor (and who knows what else?), such research and its proponents had to be silenced. And they were.

But does anything, anywhere, in all the known SCALAR Realms give any credence whatsoever to Racial superiority? Not a twit. Nothing. A huge zero, as in zilch!

Even so, quantitative SCALAR examination does reveal that some races, specifically Black/Negroid and Aborigines, have a tendency toward not adapting well to technology (high-tech) due to the fact their body chemistry by gene design does not process (carry?) oxygen in the blood to the same levels as the Caucasian or the Asian. Nor does Black/Negroid/Aborigine blood process (carry?) iron in the same quantity as the Caucasian or the Asian. Oxygen supplied to the brain via the blood is the key element in comprehension cum intelligence, and iron is the factor of either strength/activity or listlessness. The SCALAR Realms detect only slight, but significant, differences in oxygen and iron blood levels., and certainly do not dictate these factors as absolute and across the board, as evidenced by the many highly intelligent and physically proficient people from these races and the massive numbers of perpetual idiots from the others! When calculated en'toto, there is nothing in SCALAR Technology that does more than identify the few, but major, physical (genetic?) differences between the races. However, SCALAR Technology does disprove the theory that race-mixing will eliminate any of those differences, and in fact, clearly shows such attempts will always eventually produce a worse condition, that if proper action is applied can be erased in due time (see "Ten Generations" below)! Racial purity? Clear as a bell. And you can bet your best Tesla Coil the left-wing extremists socialists will scream their opposition to that cold, hard truth from the very house tops. Racial superiority? Not a thing. And that should set the right-wing extremists socialists in duet with the left-wing extremists. SCALAR Technology proves both to be extremists in their precepts, hypocrisies and idiocies.

These purity findings are nothing new to farmers who must maintain both their purebred livestock and open pollinated seed in order to produce the hybrids so adamantly acclaimed as being superior, but which won't breed true. Did you get that? Hybrids won't breed true! And the SCALAR evidences confirm what has been known and practiced for centuries. SCALAR evidences indicate that it takes ten generations to return to purity and breed-true in all factors, seed, livestock, and people. And, that is exactly the requirements contained in Ancient Israel's Holy Law! Ten Generations. So obviously, somebody had access to this information long before we're programmed to believe. SCALAR Technology does verify the disaster of telegany. And these are but a very few known examples.

"Inside Zero" is going to make many more such truths and revelations come to the fore. Hopefully the achieved information will make us individually independent in more applications than most people can even imagine. Free, portable and unlimited production of electrical power; free, portable and unlimited production of water; free, portable and unlimited purification of water, soil and air; free, portable and unlimited production of nonchemical fertilizers; and best of all, access to any and all accurate information we might want or need! The fact "Inside Zero" may not totally relieve us from the necessary work/labor to get these things done does not reduce the infinite value of any of these applications.

FREQUENCY REALITIES OF "INSIDE ZERO"

Consider: the speed of light in free space, corrected to the range of 186,252.352 to 186,410.98484 miles per-second; which means a speed-differential band of 158.63284 miles per-second or 837581.3952 feet per-second. Doing the math, the upper speed of light wavelength is 984,250,000, the lower is 983,412,418.56 (which conveniently is also the feet-per-second). And we have a problem. 837,581.3952 feet/cycles per-second. Fortunately, SCALAR Technology gives us an answer, but one that doesn't fit well in the Scientific/Academic Communities.

Why? Because it explains that all mass (matter/material) does not achieve infinity (speed of light) at the same rate! But why should it? Different matter has different properties, one of which is its atomic weight. That mean each element, and combination thereof (chemical structure), will have a different and self-specific atomic weight, and thus a different self-specific time/frequency. Over your head? Welcome to the club! We had trouble figuring what this meant in the real world of existence too, and SCALAR Technology gave us those answers!

Consider: A space ship. Flying in free space. Going to some distant point too many light years (a light years is given as " 2.99792×10 to the 8th power" meters per-second) away (one would be more than enough!) to reach in one lifetime. Either the occupants are prepared and provisioned to produce and educate generations after themselves, or they are in dire need of some sort of time-distortion of which hibernation (even cryogenics) won't work and exceeding the speed of light will. Remember, as mass/matter approaches infinity (speed of light) time approaches zero. Achieving the speed of light will solve, or at least partially eliminate, the three score and ten (70) year average lifespan of humanoids. However, right there begins the problem mentioned above. Each element, or combination thereof, will have to go through (achieve) infinity (speed of light) at the same time! And with those self-specific variances/differences in atomic weight, some will achieve infinity at the lower limit (983,412,418.56 fps/cps), others at the upper limit (904,250,000 fps/cps), but most somewhere in that 837,581.3952 fps/cps in between.

That is the equivalent of an automobile front and rear bumpers arriving at a destination seconds or minutes ahead of the tires, behind the glass, sideways of the interior, above the rest of the chassis, and below the occupants! Or any combination thereof. Then there's the lubricants, fuel, insulations and other self-specific materials. A modern automobile has between 700 and 3,000 different and self-specific materials that will arrive in their own self-specific schedules. A person's clothing, personal equipment, even jewelry, watches, calculators, cell phones, etcetera, will arrive a some self-specific different time than the person. And each and every different material within these objects will also arrive in their own self-specific time frames.

Will different amounts of the same materials achieve infinity at different times? Yes. But within the specific time/frequency, i.e., within that specific cycle/pulse. And that compounds the problem. Bolt "a" reaches infinity at the beginning to the cycle/pulse, the nut "b" at the middle, and the washer "c" at the end! And that's not all. Should said bolts come from different batches of materials, the arrival times would vary in exact accordance to the final self-specific combination. And that applies to any and all other materials, animal, vegetable or mineral.

One of the suggested alternatives is, can the whole be encapsulated in something, to enable the whole including the capsule to achieve infinity at the same time/frequency? According to SCALAR Technology and "Inside Zero" calculations, it sure can! There is a massive amount of research to be done, in this subject to be sure, but there are far greater and more immediate priorities before we must devote ourselves to space/time travel.

There is an idiocy, long rampant in the Scientific/Academic Communities, that infinity (speed of light) cannot be exceeded. How such hypocrisy can exist in the face of the proven fact that a neutrino is a something moving faster than the speed of light and backwards in time, is both beyond comprehension and beneath contempt! (Perhaps we should examine "beyond comprehension" and "beneath contempt" by the processes of SCALAR Technology and discover how socialists can be so brazen in their hypocrisies and so damnably stupid at the same time. Or does the later explain the former?) If a neutrino can exceed infinity, then infinity can be exceeded. Simple as that. But would the neutrino-factor require turning everything intended for achieving/exceeding infinity into neutrinos? Not according to SCALAR Technology. But said encapsulation, mentioned above, might be some sort of neutrino-based factor. And, if a neutrino-type capsule/field/shield can be created, would it also have the property of being radiation-proof?, impact-proof (the ultimate armor?), stealth-absolute? (which would create its own set of problems), or a death warrant in its own interior? All of the above? None of the above? Some combination, perhaps to some/various degree respectively?
